Located on the White Mountain, near Lake Malta, nearly 117 acre Zoo - is a wonderful natural landscape permanently inscribed in the panorama of Poznań. Diverse forest area on the one hand allows you to create for animals living here close to natural conditions, on the other, watching them more attractive to visitors. Over 40% presented in Poznań zoo species are threatened with extermination global or local, and about 100 species are covered by the European Endangered Species Breeding Programme.

Walking around the zoo, stay not only for tigers, giraffes, rhinoceroses, or monkeys, but also devote some attention to finer and seemingly less interesting animals, such as for example: Europe's only baweańskie deer, anteaters, and the mysterious Malagasy prosimians - lemurs.

Pets - if possible - they are exposed to extensive runways, which created the conditions close to natural. Particularly noteworthy are the birds of prey represented by more than a dozen species. Attraction Zoo animals are rarely shown in Polish zoos such as the white rhino and the snow leopard, as well as the Nordic Pavilion Animal, Butterfly Pavilion and Insect with open Elephant in 2009.

1.07.2016 Sightseeing About Porta Posnania

<http://bramapoznania.pl/en/porta-posnania-2/about-porta-posnania/>

Porta Posnania tells a story of the Cathedral Island using various multimedia and interactive presentations. The history spans over a period of more than a millennium. It is located in the oldest part of Poznań where the Warta and the Cybina rivers cross. Porta Posnania design consists of the main, modernist style building and the restored Cathedral Lock, which was once a part of Prussian fortifications system.

Up till very recently, the cultural heritage of the Cathedral Island has been very little known. Not many visitors are aware that in the 10th century it was the site of the most powerful fortified settlement established by Poland's first known ruler, Duke Mieszko I. It is thus the cradle of the Polish state. The primary purpose of Porta Posnania is to familiarize visitors with its history and significance, but what is more important, to inspire us to explore the Island on our own and to get an up close look at its historic sights.

And though today there are taller buildings and larger open spaces in the city, the Old Market Square remains the source of great pride for Poznanians and an object of admiration for numerous visitors. Marked out in 1253, when the city of Poznań was chartered, the market square has been the centre of community life for centuries. And it was in the market square that the most prominent citizens lived and trade deals were negotiated to bring economic prosperity to the city.
